The MNEMOSYNE HUNTINGTON COLLEGE

VOLUME SIX

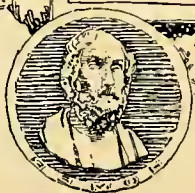

Published by the
Senior and Junior
Classes of 1927
Huntington Indiana

FOREWORD

To record in organized and enduring form the Personnel of Huntington College and its activities for the school year 1926-1927 has been the purpose in preparing this Mnemosyne.

Allen County Public Library

DEDICATION

In order to express more definitely an appreciation of the untiring efforts of parents to give their children an education—the 1927 Mnemosyne is dedicated to the Parents of the Graduates.

*Proud watchman of our campus peace,
Thy vigilance doth never cease!*

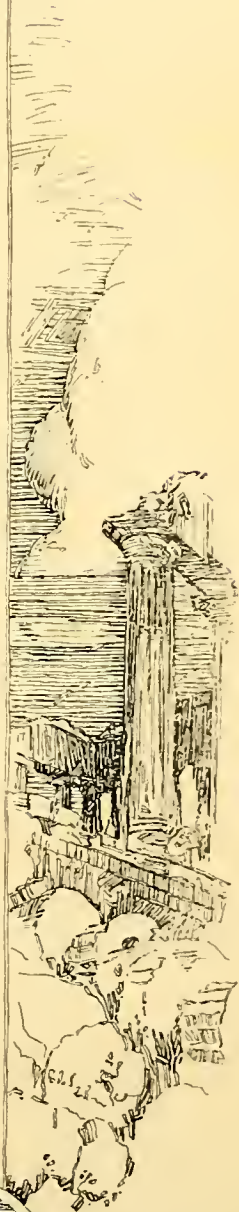

*This portal; vine-clad arch of hope,
Opens wide to those who ignorance cope.*

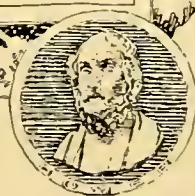

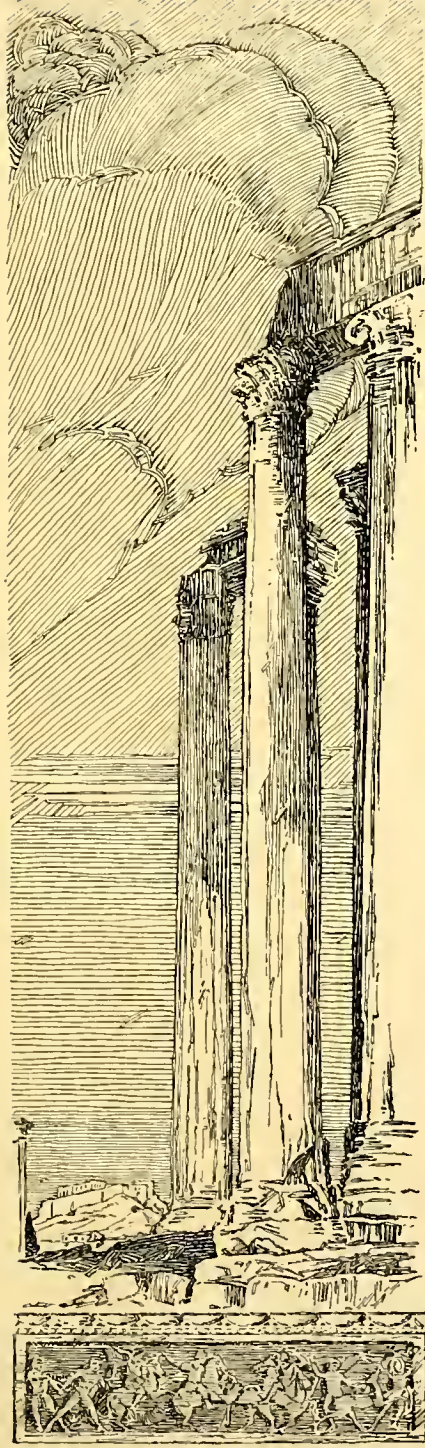

*The gurgling waters onward flow,
Like lives of school-mates onward go.*

*Oh, path of love and mem'ries tender,
Thou'rt truly our hearts' brave defender!*

A Forward Look

"For men may come and men may go, But I go on forever."

An organization is composed of individuals—not one individual. A school is constituted of students, instructors and officials. But as the brooks sing out in Tennyson's poem, "Men may come and men may go, But I go on for ever"; so with an institution. Students came and tarry for a period of years—and are gone. Instructors come and work and co-operate—and are gone. Officials come, spend midnight oil in behalf of the institution—and are gone. Still the institution stands.

But as each comes and goes, he makes his contribution. The student leaves with the desire to influence others to attend his Alma Mater. The instructor brings new ideas and assimilates them so as to make a stronger institution. The officials, whether it be the president or some member of the board of trustees, have the work at heart, and earnestly try to advance the school to a higher standing than ever before. All this work is done—not for self-glory or praise—but for the institution.

We feel that such has been the work accomplished this year as well as the plans for the future.

Improvements in the Science department were made this year, upon the recommendation of the State Board of Education of Indiana. These changes were necessary in order to be accredited in the science courses.

At the last meeting of the State Board of Education of Indiana, action was taken relative to the improvements made in the science department. A letter which Dr. C. A. Mummart received from the State Director of Teacher Training implies further action to be taken. The letter follows: "You are accredited in Science, Option I, for Biology and Chemistry. An extension of accreditation to Options II and IV would involve additional accreditation of five hours in both Biology and Chemistry. I shall undertake to visit your school soon. If the recommendations made by Dr. L. J. Rittger have been met, it is quite possible that you will be eligible for the additional accreditation."

The changes which were made, consisted in moving the chemistry laboratory from the basement of the administration building to the second floor of the heating plant. The biological laboratory, which was located on the second floor of the heating plant, was changed to the administration building.

The old science room on the first floor of the main building and the basement room directly beneath have been arranged for the Biological laboratories. The basement room was replastered and painted, and a new cement floor was laid. Both rooms were equipped with laboratory tables, water connections and other necessary accessories.

The Chemistry department now occupies the entire second floor of the heating plant. Partitions were constructed, making five rooms—an office, a lecture room, two laboratories and a stock room. Tables and other necessary equipment were provided. The one room will accommodate a class of sixteen, the other room being for advanced chemistry, will accommodate a class of twelve. Improvements were also made in the laboratories in the basement of the administration building.

A number of volumes have been added to the library this year. Some few books were donated, but for the most part, they have been purchased from the library fund. A total number of one hundred and sixty-seven, pertaining to the field of Education, Literature, Philology, History, Psychology, Economics, Religion, Mathematics and Useful Arts have been added to the bookshelves.

The reading table is supplied with more than thirty of the leading magazines and periodicals as well as the daily newspapers.

Plans have also been outlined for improvements in the library. The practical operation of the plans as outlined depends upon the response of the church to the "College Cash Day." The plans as outlined would make the present library a reading room only, using the basement room directly beneath for the book stacks. The plan would permit the addition of more books without crowding the stacks, and would also eliminate the overcrowded condition of the present library.

The board of trustees should be complimented for the progressive attitude and spirit which they possess as manifested by these changes and plans for the future.

Members of the board who are now serving are: Bishop W. E. Musgrave, Huntington, Indiana; Bishop E. B. Griffin, Modesto, California; Bishop F. L. Hoskins, Myrtle, Idaho; Rev. J. E. Harwood, Huntington, Indiana; Rev. C. H. Slusher, Warren, Indiana; Dr. C. A. Mummart, Huntington, Indiana; B. J. Hazzard, Blissfield, Michigan; Wm. C. Galbraith, Rugby, Indiana; and Glenn G. Gideon, Payne, Ohio.

History of Huntington College

The little group of teachers and students who came to Huntington, Indiana, thirty years ago to begin the first year's work ever done in Central College saw little except a rough thirty-four acre campus with a newly built Administration Building on it, and here and there a house in what was to be the town of College Park. The church of the United Brethren in Christ (Old Constitution) was responsible for this infant college, having made arrangements in 1896 with the Huntington Land Association to sell 102 lots at the north edge of Huntington in return for the Association's providing the campus and erecting the building. Dr. C. H. Kiracofe, a former president of another United Brethren college at Hartsville, Indiana, planned the Park and organized the college as its first president. Many of the first teachers and students had been at Hartsville College. The new institution was called Central College because of its location, and was renamed Huntington College in 1917.

The courses listed in the first catalogue (1898) were the Classical, Philosophical, Scientific, Preachers' Normal, Musical, and Preparatory. Latin, Greek, German, and French formed the bulk of the instruction given, with a sprinkling of common school subjects, science, theology, mathematics, philosophy, and other subjects. Of the 85 students enrolled the first year, 30 took preparatory work and 40 were listed as music students. For years the Music Department enrolled about half the students in the institution. Several departments, including Oratory, Commercial Department, Agriculture, and Domestic Science, were organized at various times and later discontinued. The Theological Department (1905), Department of Fine Arts (1915), and Department of Education (1915), as well as the Department of Music, have proved permanent. An Academy, offering regular high school work, continued from 1906 to 1926. The present tendency is toward making the school purely one of Liberal Arts, Fine Arts, Religious Education, and training for high school teaching.

The faculty, including the presidents, has changed rather rapidly. President J. H. McMurray, one of the ablest and most popular presidents, succeeded Dr. Kiracofe in 1902, and served until 1905. T. H. Gragg, a giant in physique and a mathematician of note, then served for six years. Bishop F. L. Hoskins acted one year, and was re-elected, but resigned; Rev. C. A. Mummart then served for three years (1912-1915). After an interval during which C. W. H. Bangs (1915-19) and D. R. Ellabarger (1919-25) acted, Dr. Mummart again became president. Prof. F. A. Loew, who taught for nearly twenty years, served the college longest as teacher. The faculty has gradually grown from seven members in 1898 to the present seventeen (exclusive of the training school). The attendance has hovered around the 100 mark, mounting to 132 in 1904 and to 216 in 1926 (including summer term). There were 30 graduates in 1926.

The institution has grown steadily in equipment. An Agricultural Building (1914), separate heating plant (1918), and gymnasium (1920) have been erected, laboratories gradually equipped, literary society halls furnished, some thousands of books added to the library, and the campus improved with trees, sidewalks, drives, and ornaments donated mostly by graduating classes. A small girls' dormitory was secured in 1916. In recent years an endowment fund of over $115,000 has been obtained.

The Philomathean and Zetaethan literary societies were organized at the outset. The men's glee club, orchestra, and chorus were very strong in early years. A Young People's Prayer Band, Alumni Auxiliary, Alumni Association, Ministerial Association, and Athletic Association functioned for some time. The Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. are a little over ten years old. Intercollegiate athletics and debating are more recent.

While the struggle has at times been hard, Huntington College has weathered the financial storms and managed to keep abreast of the times in efficiency. Her credits were acknowledged by leading institutions from the very first, and practically full State accreditation has recently been secured. While the discontinuance of the Academy and the plan to drop the training for grade teachers after this year have temporarily lowered the attendance, the friends of "Old H. C." are looking forward to an ever larger and finer college.

Class of 1927

The class of 1927 is organized in two groups—the college seniors in one group and all the graduates in another group.

The officers of the senior class are:

|                       |                       |
|-----------------------|-----------------------|
| President .....       | Corinth Lange         |
| Vice-president .....  | Ralph Pfister         |
| Secretary .....       | Ira Wolfe             |
| Treasurer .....       | Ruth Wood             |
| Faculty Adviser ..... | Prof. M. F. Wolverton |

The graduating class includes those graduating from all departments—college of liberal arts, and normal and theological departments. The officers of the Graduating class are:

|                       |                   |
|-----------------------|-------------------|
| President .....       | Lowell Hildebrand |

| Secretary .....       | Mildred Swoveland |
| Treasurer .....       | Ira Wolfe         |
| Faculty Adviser ..... | Dr. C. A. Mummart |

The members of the Graduating class, totalling twenty-one, naturally fall into three groups of seven each. These groups are the seven college seniors, the several normal students who have been in school during the year, and the normal students who have been teaching during the year, but who are completing their work this summer.

The programs for commencement are as follows:

The Sophomore class, although somewhat smaller this year than last, has a lively group. In their ranks are three of the varsity basketball team and among them the captain of the team. Besides athletes, there are ministers, medical missionaries, teachers and representatives of other professions as well.

As Freshmen they laid claim to the reputation of being the best class in school. Whether they may still rightfully claim this honor is not for us to decide, but we do acknowledge that they are a class worthy of highest esteem. Every member is active and wide-awake.

When old H. C. calls, the Sophomore class readily responds with the choicest of her sons and daughters.

We feel that the class of '29 will make its mark in the world as well as in the college. May the mark be a true blue one of steadfastness and loyalty to all worthy enterprises and institutions.

Hail to the Huntington College Freshmen of 1926 and 1927. This is one of the snappiest, peppiest and best classes of H. C. The second basketball team is composed wholly of Freshmen—players, who in the future, promise seasons of victory for old H. C.

The yell leaders, Gerald Bowen and Ruby Van Sweringen, without fail, were always full of the "Old Fight" as was the whole class.

Many and varied have been the experiences of the Freshman class—class parties with the accompanying attempted theft of the eats by "someone?"—love affairs, both disastrous and successful—debates and basketball games where they always won the moral victory.

But despite all defeats the class is always "up and at it again" with such vigor that we feel that this class will produce some of America's future "great".

Normal School

The purposes of the Normal School are to give a thorough training to teachers preparing for work in the grades and junior high school, and to meet the needs of students and teachers in other lines of work.

Although the number is smaller than usual, we believe that we are training a superior class of students who will make excellent and dependable teachers for the school children of our country, whether they be placed in a large school plant of a city or in a little country school. It is a case of "quality rather than quantity."

We look on the Normal students with some awe, and well we might, for those who are equipping themselves to lead little children into the "paths of knowledge and right living" are following the foot-prints of the Great Teacher. Their calling is a noble one and worthy of their time and talent.

If the sex of the teachers of Indiana were to be determined by their representation in this Normal group, it is very likely that the men teachers would be greatly in the minority. One lone man is to be found in their number, and the strange thing about it is that he seems perfectly at ease among the ladies and is enjoying the situation.

Professor O. E. Overn has charge of this department and Miss L. M. Paulman is the assistant. A number of the students have positions for next year and some of the former graduates are now doing successful teaching in this state and neighboring ones.

The year has been full of practice teaching, intelligence tests, Indiana history, school management, physiology and hygiene for these folks. This is their last year here as Normal students because this department will be discontinued after this year, but we are hoping that some of them will see fit to complete a full four-year college course.

Theological Seminary

The influence of the Theological Seminary is being felt throughout the church. The graduates and former students, who are now serving as pastors, are coming to the front as the leaders of their respective conferences and districts. The direct contact with the organization of the college church and all her departments has helped these students to grasp new ideas which they are putting in practice. The courses offered in the Seminary are also proving to be very helpful.

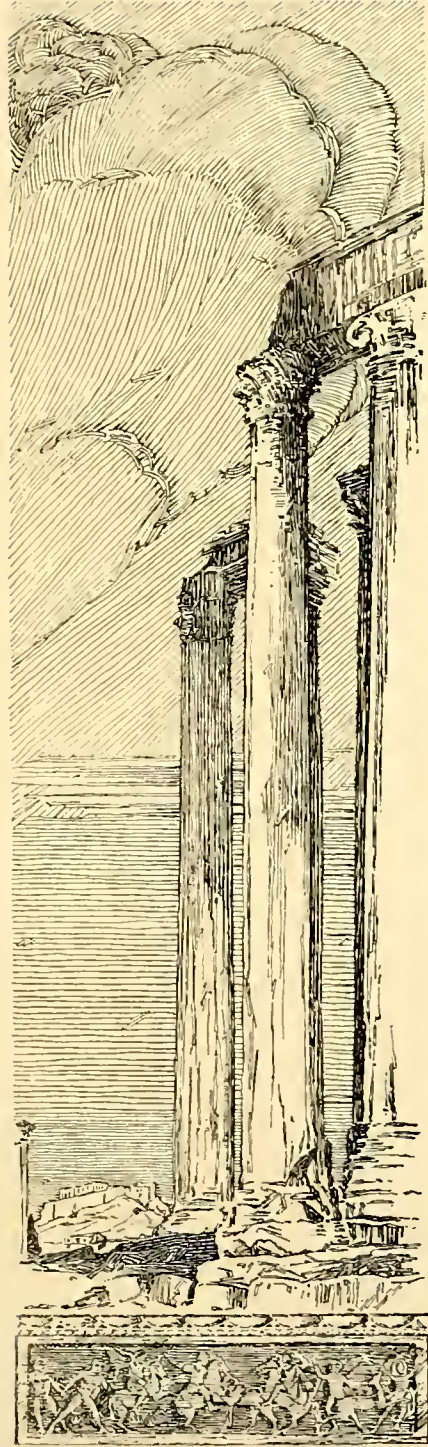

The general aim of the Seminary is to assist men and women who are seeking a theological and Bible training for Christian work. Its specific aim is to impart religious instruction to candidates for the Christian ministry. The scriptures of the Old and New Testaments are the rule of faith and therefore the chief task of the Seminary is to aid men in their endeavors to become proficient interpreters of the Word and competent preachers of the Gospel of Christ. The aim is to instruct for the Christian ministry, men who shall sincerely believe in Christ, and who shall be well qualified in mind and heart to proclaim the great truths of redemption; to provide faithful ministers, humble and earnest pastors; and to provide for the church, men who are qualified to bring the gospel message to the whole world.

Courses are offered in exegetical, systematic, historical and practical theology, and in religious education. Methods are used which are well adapted to aid the student to acquire both mental training and knowledge useful for the gospel ministry, and to realize himself in his practical work.

A ten-day school of religious education was conducted by the department of religious education of the church from March 29 to April 8. A number of workers, representing different fields of labor, were in attendance. The regular students also enrolled in the courses offered.

The instructors in the Seminary are Dr. C. A. Mummart, Dr. W. H. Clay, W. H. Kindell, M. F. Wolverton, Bessie E. Richardson, O. E. Overn and Cora Lee Smith.

Educational Club

The Educational Club is one of the youngest organizations of the college, but at the same time one of the largest. Both students and faculty members participate in its activities with glowing interest. Meetings are held every six weeks, two being held each term. The purpose of the club is to obtain speakers from outside the school to talk on educational topics. Up to the present time, five meetings have been held. The speakers secured, were, for the most part, men connected with educational institutions. Mr. Clifford Funderburg, county superintendent of schools, was the first speaker. His subject was "Personality," and he stressed the relation between heredity and personality. Dr. V. F. Schwalm, dean of Manchester College, was the second speaker. He gave a very interesting and informational address on "The History of Denominational Colleges of Indiana."

The third speaker was Prof. C. E. Byers, principal of Huntington high school. He spoke from the topic, "Schools of Today." The next speaker was Dr. J. W. Leedy, president of Marion College. His subject was "Christian Education." He said education today had for its aim, "prepare to meet thy job" instead of "prepare to meet thy God."

"Great Men of France" was the subject used by C. W. H. Bangs, the fifth speaker. Mr. Bangs, former president of the college, is now actively engaged as an attorney in Huntington. Mr. Bangs spent a year studying in France, and part of his address was from personal experiences while in France.

Officers are elected every term, thus giving more people experience. The officers for the fall, winter, and spring terms follow:

President: Prof. Allen Bowman, Ruth Wood, Blanche Johnson.

Vice-president: Prof. M. F. Wolverton, Prof. M. F. Wolverton, Prof. R. W. Wood.

Secretary-Treasurer: Erma Burton, Edith Towne, Berniece Hanauer.

Corresponding Secretary: Blanche Johnson, Prof. Bessie Richardson, Prof. Bessie Richardson.

Member of Executive Committee: Prof. M. Stull, Prof. O. E. Overn, Prof. L. M. Paulman.

The aim of the Mnemosyne staff in preparing this annual has been to put out the best book ever published to represent Huntington College. Many factors have entered in making this possible. Some new features were introduced to make the book more artistic—the art border, the picture section and the division pages. The book is intended to be representative of the school — taking in all the activities and every department.

The word Mnemosyne, “Muse of Memories,” also has guided us in our work. To make this volume full of memories of the year, 1926-27, at Huntington College — those memories most cherished by every student — has been our ultimate aim, which could only be accomplished by making this the best annual ever published.

We have finished — we present it to you. Take it, dear reader, and as you read it in future years, you will find that its value grows as time rolls on. Those old class mates, long since forgotten will walk out of its pages and talk over the happenings of this year with you. You will live over again each basketball game, each class party, each joke and prank. You will recall those dear professors and friends with whom you associated at your Alma Mater. Then you will close the book for another year when the same treat will again be yours.

The Huntingtonian staff has tried to make each issue of the paper seem like a personal letter, coming from your Alma Mater to you. How well it has accomplished this task, you alone are the judge.

The work connected with publishing a school paper is varied, and each member of the staff receives experience which he could obtain in no other manner. The editor and members of the business staff will find their work to be very practical. The other members of the staff should use their experience this year as a means of advancement — that of taking a greater part in the activities of the school.

The Huntingtonian has a place in our school life, and each reader looked forward with expectancy for each successive issue — perhaps to see if it would betray some state secret or that prank which you wished to keep quiet. The paper has been made a part of the lives of not only students and faculty but also alumni members.

Such subjects were presented and discussed that were of vital interest and importance not only locally, but nationally as well.

The Young Men's Christian Association is not as much an organization as it is a movement. The work of the Y. M. is all embracing, taking in a consideration of all the different phases of campus life. To apply the principles of Jesus Christ to these problems which present themselves on the campus is the work in which the "Y" has been actively engaged.

The work of the Y. M. during the first part of the year included the bi-weekly discussion groups, bi-weekly chapel programs and student prayer-meetings during the revival services conducted by the church. During the latter part of the year, plans were formulated to include a study of all campus activities.

Delegates were sent to two conferences, which were held at the Y. M. C. A. at Indianapolis and Indiana University at Bloomington. These conferences were especially for the officers, and helped to formulate plans for future work. The delegates returned home from these conferences, enthusiastic about the work, and the spirit in which they entered the work on their return showed what good they received from these conferences. A delegate is to be sent to the ten-day conference at Lake Geneva during the month of June.

The work of the Y. M. has a place on the campus, and to try to get along without the organization would be futile. But we are never satisfied with present conditions, and are looking for greater things in the future — to make the kingdom of God more effective on the campus through a personal allegiance of every boy on the campus to Jesus Christ.

The purposes of the Young Womens' Christian Association of Huntington College are: first, To lead students to faith in God through Jesus Christ; second, To lead students into membership and service in the Christian church; third, To promote their growth in Christian faith and character, especially through the study of the Bible; and fourth, To influence them to devote themselves in united effort with all Christians in making the will of Christ effective in human society and extending the Kingdom of God throughout the world.

The goals which were set at the beginning of the term of office by the cabinet members are: first, Every girl on our campus a Christian; second, Every Christian girl on our campus a "Y" girl; and third, Social service work among the girls of the city of Huntington.

Every goal set for the year has been reached. The social service work has just been started and is proving worth-while, both as training for those in charge and for the city girls of State street school district. The fact that we have reached the goals shows the spirit of Huntington College girls in real Christian work.

In co-operation with the Y. M. C. A. discussion groups were held every two weeks. In these meetings problems concerning student and campus life were considered. The Y. W. also was responsible for two chapel programs each month in which interesting and varied programs were presented.

One memory that will always remain sweetest and dearest to the girls of Huntington College will be that of the meetings in the Zeta hall. The companionship with others having like interests, the interesting programs, the mistakes that all make and at which all can laugh, give to the very word "Zeta" a peculiar meaning that no girl can explain, but that all feel.

Zeta girls of this year will look back, but not unkindly, on the pranks played on them by certain members of the opposite sex. They will also remember, smilingly, their attempts to pay the boys back, but they willingly acknowledge that they could do nothing that would quite come up to a "cruel" art tried on females and felines.

The programs have been very entertaining this year. The committees have tried out several new plans which have worked very well. One novel feature of the programs was a Style Show. Others were a newspaper, reports on books by modern authors, debates, an Indiana program and a musical program.

It is the aim of the society to redecorate the hall to a certain extent this year. Old Zeta members are to be asked to contribute to the fund and all are looking forward to a more attractive hall in the future.

The joyous time of members of both Zeta and Philo on the annual hayrack ride will long be remembered. Happy Hollow will always bring to us pleasant memories.

Philomathean Literary Society

President—Corinth Lange; Franklin Miller; Ira Wolfe.
 Vice-president—Grant Gingrich; Arthur Benner; Clare Holley.
 Secretary—Russell Lemar; David McNelly; Wilbur Lemar.
 Treasurer—Cecil Smith; Wilbur Lemar; Charles Saufley.
 Critic—Allen Bowman; Wilford Musgrave; Arthur Benner.
 Chaplain—Ralph Pfister; Ernest Gingrich; Grant Gingrich.
 Historian—Clare Holley; Kelley Towne; Leon Bowman.
 Pianist—Roy Sullivan; Allen Bowman; Clarence Collins.
 Chorister—Wilbur Lemar; Everett Goshorn; Gerald Bowen.
 Janitor—Wilford Musgrave; Corinth Lange; Franklin Miller.

The Philomathean Literary Society is composed of practically every man in school and a number who have finished school but are still in a position to attend. The aim of this organization is to train the members in debate, expression of thought, and in parliamentary usage.

From all that an outsider can gather from rumors and reading the announcements of their programs, the Philos must have surely had some fascinating entertainments. Just listen, accordion solo — Irish stories — Christianity in the Roman Empire — debate on abolishing written term examinations — C. B. A. — and innumerable other things that sound just as interesting.

An observer remarked that it was a very unusual practice the Philos have of lining up in the lower hall immediately after dismissal. Strange to say this was remedied (for a short time at least) when the Zetas began to dismiss earlier than usual.

Nevertheless, the Philos are a virtuous organization in spite of some peculiar practices and if they should permanently disband it is a recognized fact that a similar organization would not be long in following.

In co-operation with the Zetas, the Philos gave the annual reception at the first of the year. The inter-society programs were enjoyed by all. The program presented by the two literary societies jointly the last week of school was inspirational enough of college life so that one could live throughout the vacation period on memories.

Chorus

The chorus of this year, conducted by Miss Cecil Hodam and accompanied at the piano by Miss Esther Kaiser, is "little but loud"; in other words, the members are few in number but great in vocal volume. Difficult work was undertaken which has been accomplished satisfactorily under the untiring direction of the instructor. Everett Goshorn was elected president of the chorus early in the year.

Just previous to the Christmas vacation an operetta was given which bore the title of "Trial by Jury," being a burlesque on an English Court in the settlement of a breach of promise case. It was presented successfully in spite of some near-disasters which prevented two of the leading characters from taking their parts. Substitutions were speedily made and the audience was scarcely aware of the change. Who will forget the stern history professor in the role of judge? Or the jurymen with powdered hair, wearing long black robes, sitting in the elevated jury box?

Another operetta (at the time of writing) is about to be presented. It is the pseudo-farcical "Will Tell," based upon the well-known story of William Tell, who, according to tradition, delivered his fatherland from one of its cruel despots, the Austrian Gessler. The operetta was composed and arranged by W. Rhys-Herbert and was his last work of this kind. Two scenes are presented, the first a market place and the second a mountain glen near Altdorf. The cast of characters is as follows:

|                      |                   |
|----------------------|-------------------|
| William Tell .....   | Ira Wolfe         |
| Herman Gessler ..... | Everett Goshorn   |
| Anna Gessler .....   | Erma Burton       |
| Walter Tell .....    | Gerald Bowen      |
| Berenger .....       | Vardon Latsch     |
| Rosa .....           | Blanche Johnson   |
| Gertrude .....       | Mildred Brechbiel |
| Werner .....         | Lowell Hildebrand |

Speaking and singing will be alternated and the humor and wit of the various characters are well diffused. Besides individual acting, there will be group selections by old men and women, children, guards and patriots. The college orchestra will furnish the orchestral parts and accompaniments throughout.

The C. B. A.

The Collar Button Association is a new organization in Huntington College. The idea was suggested early in the school year by a number of students, and an organization rapidly developed, which had for its emblem a collar button. The object of the society has been to create a better spirit of friendliness among the boys of the college and to form friendships that will last not only through college days but throughout life.

All boys that are interested in boosting the organization and the college are welcomed into the society, with the one exception that they must not be married. It is expected that married men have duties elsewhere.

During the winter term a campaign was launched in order to secure funds to furnish a room for the boys in the college building. There is a need of such a room, and with the aid of the faculty and students, sufficient means have been secured to start the work. The former chemistry laboratory in the basement of the college building has been offered and considered as the location of the room. The room is to be replastered, re-finished and completely furnished. The object of such an undertaking is to give the H. C. boys a good, clean rest room to which they may resort for study or visiting. The room will also serve as a club room for the society.

Another interesting feature is the Honor Stand which the society has placed in the halls of the administration building. This stand contains candy, gum, etc., and is provided with an open cash box where each person may deposit his money and make change. The entire system is operated upon the honor of the students, and has worked very well. The proceeds, at present, go to the club room fund.

Young Peoples' Mission Band

The Young Peoples' Mission Band was organized at the beginning of the school year in place of reorganizing the Student Volunteer group. The Y. P. M. B. was organized because more students could take an active part, the membership being open to any one interested in missions. The officers for the year were: President, Prof. Allen Bowman; vice-president, Ralph Pfister; secretary-treasurer, Clara Hartman.

Meetings were held every Sunday morning at 8:30 with a four-four plan—a devotional meeting, a meeting discussing campus problems, a meeting to review a book and a meeting open to others or an outside speaker. Some of the topics for discussion were "The Quiet Hour," "How Can We Create More Missionary Enthusiasm on Our Campus?", "Too Many Organizations?", and "Can We Have a Revival at College Park?".

The study book was "Looking Ahead with Latin America" by Stanley High. During the year the Band was addressed by returned missionaries from Africa, which included Rev. Frank Prowell and Rev. Lloyd Eby. Miss Louise Rounds, traveling secretary for the Student Volunteer Movement was present to speak and to hold conferences.

Two public meetings were held. The first was a stereoptican lecture. The topic was "The Church's Unfinished Task." The pictures related to the landing of the Pilgrims, and traced the development of America commercially, economically and religiously up to the present time showing the great task that is now facing the church in rural communities and especially the work in foreign settlements in large cities. The second meeting was a short, inspiring missionary play, entitled, "A Soldier of the Cross." The story has a college setting; two young people deciding, one going to the mission field while the other remains home. "The losing of ones' life to find it for Christ's sake" was vividly portrayed. The cast of characters was as follows:

|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------|
| Richard Cartwright—College student, quiet, studious, idealistic, yet popular with the boys ..... | Ralph Pfister   |
| Mrs. Cartwright—His mother, sincere, devout, almost Spartan type .....                           | Jennie Hukill   |
| Louise Holland—Brilliant, popular, the type that makes or mars her life by some decision .....   | Ruth Wood       |
| Mr. Sylvester—A returned missionary who has spent his life in India .....                        | Allen Bowman    |

MCCORMICK

Coach "Jim" Stull

Even with his added responsibility of a son, Stull has been the big reason for our success in athletics in the past season. He is a man and a gentleman — even-tempered, liked by all, a man worthy of the tribute. He never quits — win or lose. His qualities have won for him the respect and affection of the entire student body and faculty.

"Jack" Bowen and "Ivalou" Van Sweringen are the instigators and sponsors of the moral support and spirit which was a great factor in our successful season in athletics. Many compliments were received for their successful efforts in making "LET'S GO, HUNTINGTON" sound as if it were coming from a student body many times the size of ours.

Lowell Hildebrand

Clare Holley

Everett Goshorn

Herschel Lesh

"Hildy" proved to be a man who liked to travel. His spirits arose to great heights when the trip to Muncie rolled around. Not only was Hildebrand able to gain a good rank with our own men, but also won a place in the leading scorers of the state. "Hildy" is lost to our squad by graduation.

With able assistance from the feminine half of our cheer leaders Clare Holley was again our star floor guard. Besides ranking among the leading scorers of the state Holley and Miller kept the score of our opponents low. Holley has two years with us yet.

Captain Everett Goshorn, our blond and good-looking six-foot center found time aside from his regular occupation of breaking hearts at home and vamping the waitresses and telephone girls on trips to rank sixth in the state scoring list. "Gossie" is also a sophomore.

"Hershey" Lesh is our little black-haired "candy kid" from Uniondale. The muscle building occupation in which he indulges during vacation has enabled him to make himself a necessary cog in Stull's famous offense and defense. Lesh has one more year at Huntington.

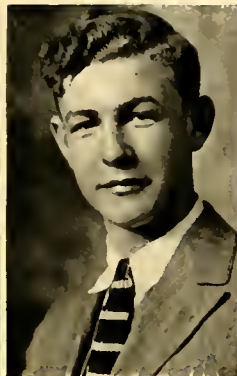

Franklin Miller

Arthur Benner

Clifford Wechsler

Rollin Williams

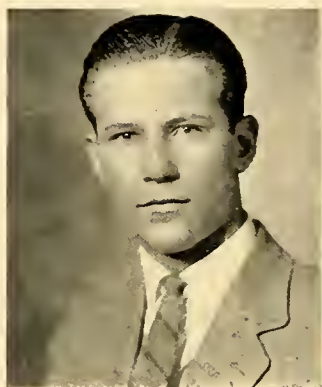

Stull found that "Bob" Miller was both a good offense and defense man and shifted him to the front line on several occasions where he did excellent work. "Bob" was a shining light at back guard and often sank long shots from back of center. "Bob" is lost this year by graduation.

"Art" Benner, our curly-headed lad from Ontario, has proved an able substitute at both guard and forward. Benner is a Junior and Stull should find him a valuable man next year. This delightful "South"ern climate has a peculiar attraction for him.

Clifford Wechsler is our valuable acquisition from Huntington Township H. S. He plays center and forward and in the next three years should develop into one of the best men in the state. Another of our tall, blue-eyed blonds, however this one has curls.

"Pope" Williams is another one of our five modest and unassuming freshmen who are members of this year's squad. "Pope" saw action in several games this season and the strength and agility he has shown as an offense man should gain him recognition in his next three years.

Donald Brodie

Clarence Collins

Grant Gingrich

"Don" Brodie came to us from Huntington high school where he played basketball in his senior year and proved to us that he has real ability. "Don," though a freshman, won his letter by his accurate shooting and fast floor-work.

Clarence "Cuz" Collins is another freshman to win his letter this year. His ability as a guard should enable him to fill Miller's position at back guard next year. "Cuz" is also a fairly accurate shot.

Grant Gingrich is another freshman from Canada who showed his loyalty to the squad by practising faithfully the whole season though he did not see action. He is a promising player and should gain attention in his remaining years at Huntington.

Basketball Squad — 1926-27

Hildebrand and Miller are the only ones to be lost this year by graduation. While these two players will be missed in the lineup next year, Coach Stull will have the remainder of the squad above from which to pick their successors. He should have little difficulty in doing this for real ability was shown by the substitutes who were given a chance in several games during the season.

We are proud of the record made by Captain Goshorn in leading our own scoring and ranking sixth in the state list although he played four games less than the leading scorer in the state. If he had shown the same form at both ends of the season as he did in mid-season, there is little doubt as to whom would have been leader. Hildebrand and Holley also ranked with the leaders in the state scoring list, Hildebrand ranking thirteenth and Holley seventeenth.

The boys will still have their hands full as shown by the strong schedule arranged for them for the next season. The schedule for the 1927-28 season is as follows:

- Dec. 2 Muncie Normal at Muncie.
- Dec. 8 Manchester at North Manchester.
- Dec. 9 Defiance at Huntington.
- Dec. 17 Rose Poly at Rose Poly.
- Dec. 18 Terre Haute State Normal at Terre Haute.
- Jan. 7 Rose Poly at Huntington.
- Jan. 14 Indiana Central at Huntington.
- Jan. 27 Adrian at Adrian.
- Jan. 28 Hillsdale at Hillsdale.
- Feb. 10 Adrian at Huntington.
- Feb. 18 Concordia at Fort Wayne.
- Feb. 24 Indiana Central at Indianapolis.
- Feb. 25 N. A. G. U. at Indianapolis.
- Mar. 3 Concordia at Huntington.

The athletic board who worked in harmony throughout the entire year in carrying out the athletic program of the school is composed of the following members: Coach M. Stull, Dr. C. A. Mummart, Prof. A. W. Jones, Prof R. W. Wood, and Prof O. E. Overn.

Girls' Athletics

A growing interest has been manifested in girls' athletics at Huntington College during the past year. Although not much of a spectacular nature was accomplished this year, big plans are already under way for next year.

Because of the numerous fall rains peculiar to Indiana, the tennis courts were flooded so that they could not be used at that time, but this spring, tennis came into its own, much to the enjoyment of all.

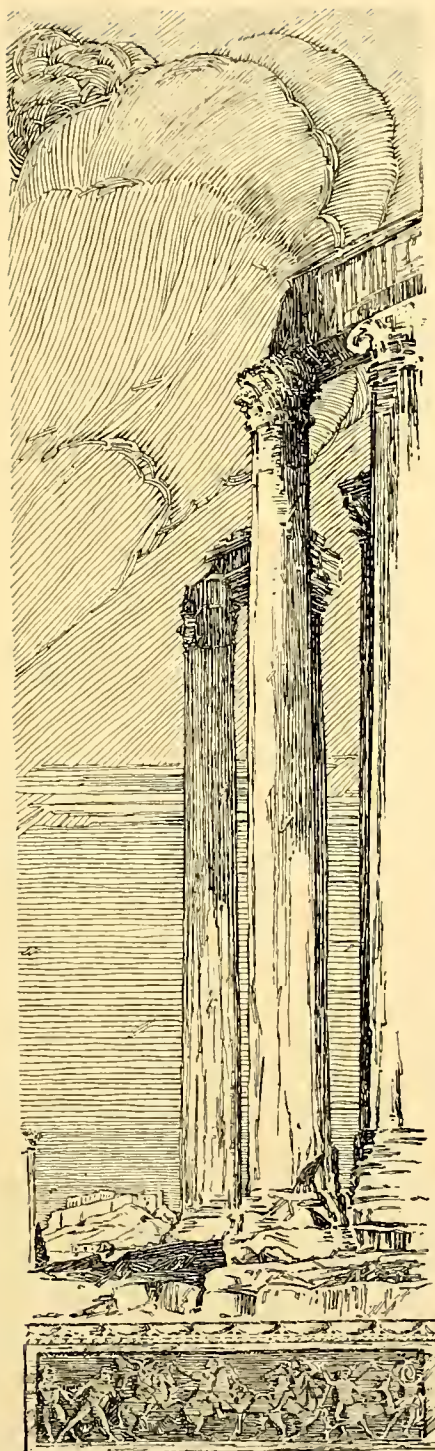

Basketball also had its place this year although few regular games were played. The Sophomore-Junior girls challenged the Freshmen-Senior team once during the season and a fast contest ensued with an overwhelming victory for the Freshmen-Senior girls. Also the H. C. girls bravely sought to overpower the fast Huntington Township High School team but did not succeed.

Those who played during the season include: Blair Wood, Thelma South, Coral Dravenstatt, Helen McNabb, Betty Beaver, Vera Plumley, Mildred Brechbiel, Anna Baker, Delsie Johnson, Ruby Van Sweringen, and Janie Saufley.

Baseball also was enjoyed. Many were the comments among the girls of how certain professionals carried their bat to first base, or how others had the habit of trying to lay-out the catcher by slinging the bat at her "shins." Many real "he-man" players were discovered, some who had the ability to pick off two and three base hits at will. Some casualties were experienced which dampened the playing for a few days. Some training in military drill was participated in by the gym classes.

Next year new tennis courts are expected to make their appearance; so that tennis may be a major sport in the fall and spring. Good material is also looming up for a winning basketball team. The girls hope to help the boys to uphold the glory of H. C. in this field of sport activity.

September

Ye Ho! Ye Ho! Away we go,
We register and pay our dough!

New friends we're greeting all the while,
With hearty laugh and genial smile.

In College now we're all quite glad,
For study is the newest fad!

Then comes the days of College life,
When Freshies get receptions rife—

One night the Freshies hang their flag
High on the greasy pole to wag;

Next day is H. C.'s Pipe-rush-bliss,
America we sweetly kiss:

Then Education Club and Dorm,
Look, how we take 'em all by storm!

All kinds of peppy life galore,
Next month let's hope and pray for more.

October

Prof. Overn's party is a go;
Miss Maulsby sings a grand solo.

Our intellectual giants thrive;
The C. B. A. begins to hive:

They place their candy self-serve-all,
To make us loiter in the hall.

And after this the Seniors park
With Sophs, at Kenner's—after dark.

Great Snakes, what's going to happen now?
A Hallowe'en spook grabs us,—WOW!

Hurray, our gang rides off in glee,
To "Happy Hollow" hayrack we.

Now don't you tell a single one,
'Tis dark e'er we conclude our fun!

Then home again our hayracks roll,
And ends this month's eventful goal.

November

Thanksgiving time at last arrives,
YEA, all aboard for Turkey knives!

And hence we go our sev'ral ways;
A short vacation claims our days.

We never like to count the cost
Of merry company that's lost,

Therefore, we turn our steps anew,
Back to our merry, merry crew.

The healthy Juniors try their hand
At pleasing Freshies—isn't it grand?

Then Freshies go to Delsie's home,
Where they can laugh, and shout, and roam.

As for the rest, I guess we're tired;
Let's wait a-bit, or we'll be fired.

So now we pass some tranquil days,
And plan next month's illustrious ways.

NOVEMBER.

December

Well now, we've got some snowy heather,
To make it look like Christmas weather.

We write to Santa's far North Land,
To ask him for a new brass band;

But early though the few days are,
He comes to us in his "Ford" car:

And says that since we've been so good,
He's got a plan beneath his hood:

So off the bat to meet us square,
Our "Trial by Jury" sure gets there—

Then for two weeks sweet peace supreme:
Vacation tracks around us teem;

Calm rests H. C.'s battled walls,
December climate cools her halls.

H. C. stands chill, and dumb, and free—
Cheer up, we'll all be back—(You'll see!)

DECEMBER.

January

With out-looks bright, and mem'ries dear,
We all salute the infant year:

New resolutions we declare
Shall guide our lives quite everywhere.

Our boys are doing mighty well—
By sport reports these facts we tell:

For basketball let's get the gist,
By looking at Mnemosyne's list!

The C. B. A. with might and main,
Bleeds all our cash for Club Room gain.

Why, Zetas, we're surprised to learn,
That you a blameless "Cat" must spurn!

We hear of many banquets fine,
Where ev'ry girl learns how to dine:

But my, when ev'ry thing's all told,
A little fun is worth much gold,

And I am sure the Month is best,
That claims the social armor "Gest!"

February

Excitement! Who can ever sing
Of what the coming day will bring?

Frank Seeley's house burns to the ground;
Our sympathies are quite profound.

Now comes the biggest social streak
Of which the world must often speak:

You know, George Washington, we praise
In banquet, song, and various ways—

So we embark on banquet-ship;
Complete our voyage sans a dip.

A-Hoy! See Valentine's far shore!
We spy it, and our loves implore:

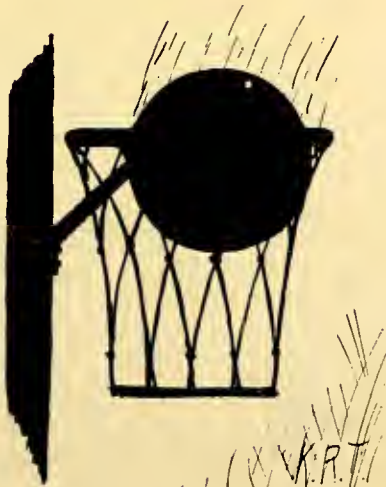

By sending sentimental cards;
Dorm parties; and becoming pards!

Hence time flies onward from its source,
While we continue life's sweet course.

Another month has seen its close—
Hail, March, thy wind around us blows.

JANUARY.

FEBRUARY

March

Whoop-ee, spring days will soon be here,
The birds sing out, "What Cheer, What Cheer!"

And though we're head and heels in work,
Revival meetings we don't shirk.

Our hearts in tune with nature's lore,
Sing louder that they have before—

The balmy ev'ning's moon-lit story,
Begins to blossom out in glory:

And ev'rywhere and o'er the fields,
We tread where trees stand as our shields:

Take care, take care, brave youth and maid,
The sun e'en yet spreads out its shade!

Not much excitement March has gained,
Except what fierce-eyed Deans have feigned.

Good-bye, Oh Month of blust'ry horn,
We leave thee all bereft and lorn.

April

Compared with ev'ry joy of school,
BEWARE, none laugh like April Fool!

Of all the days that we love best,
School days are lovelier than the rest.

We're somewhat saddened with the thought
That this year's passing on the trot:

But still we laugh with steadfast joy—
That separation can't annoy.

Glad parties; hikes are much in vogue;
Heigh-ho, sunshine, you're quite a rogue!

Oh, stunt-nite, hail we thy design,
The classes all resplendent shine!

Now spring-time languor claims its own,
And in remorse we softly groan:

AVAUNT, thou tear-stained April day;
Appear, thou blue-skied reign of May!

May

Calm month of deep, unsounded blue!
Our weeks of school are very few,

And swiftly follows our last scene
Of H. C.'s halls — bold and serene;

The Baccalaureate Sunday morn
Fills us with thoughtful treasure born;

Endeavor sermon, music eve',
Inspire us to great things achieve;

Philo and Zeta — Class Day come,
The College Hymn we softly hum:

The dawn of glad Commencement Time,
Shines ever our scholastic clime!

Farewell, ye paths where we have trod;
Farewell, H. C.'s thrice noble sod —

We wish the Seniors great success,
As out in life they make egress!

No matter where our feet shall lead,
Next year's return shall be our Creed!

—W. P. M.

Our Alumni Association

Huntington College has an Alumni Association of something like three hundred-fifty members. These members are scattered throughout the United States and Canada with some in far distant lands as China, Africa, and Honolulu.

As we look back over the fleeting years of the history of Huntington College, we recall many pleasant associations and happy experiences of days long gone by when as students we worked and played together, shared each other's pleasures and sorrows fought our battles, won our victories and carried off our respective "sheep skins" which made us all eligible to membership in this Alumni Association.

I have often wondered if we are all too busy with our work that we have no time to drop a line or two to a fellow alumnus now and then. No, we do not mean to be so indifferent toward each other but somehow or other we just take it for granted that everybody is all right and let it go at that.

Wouldn't it be fine if we could publish a monthly magazine in the interests of the association? We could then keep in touch with each other's whereabouts and know how we are each getting along.

Of the three hundred-fifty graduates of Huntington College about ten or twelve have been called from labor to reward. They have quit the field and "their works do follow them." We pause a moment for reflection upon their loving memory. All the rest, so far as we know, are filling lucrative positions and are making good. But this is not all. These people are not only making a success in material things, but they are busy helping to make the world better, and because of this altruistic spirit, Huntington College may well be proud of them.

Our Alumni Association may not be so large as some others, but the quality is second to none, and quality counts more than numbers after all.

Dear Alumnus: Huntington College is interested in our affairs and wants to see us continue to succeed. She has always been a friend to us and is today, ready to serve us in anyway possible. What do you think our attitude toward our Alma Mater ought to be? Don't you think we ought to keep her informed at all times as to our whereabouts? Don't you think we all ought to be interested in her success by working for a larger student body and a bigger endowment?

I suggest that we establish a "News Letter Shower" on our college in April of each year giving all the news as to what we are doing and let us not forget to slip in a good substantial check with our news letter and then "watch 'er smile."

Let us hope to meet each other at our home coming during commencement week, and then we'll all sing together—

Hats Off

Hats off to our H. C.!
She speaks to you and me
In words of praise.
She wishes us success
And would each one impress
With deeds of righteousness
Throughout our days.

Hats off to our H. C.!
Let's boost her,—you and me,
Where e'er we go.
She is a beacon light
To guide our steps aright
And help us bravely fight
Our common foe.

Hats off to our H. C.!
A solid loyalty
Should be our rule.
Let's hope she's here to stay,
For her let's always pray.
Let every student say,
"God bless our school."

—W. H. Kindell, A.M., '12.

Constant growth is an evidence of service. No individual or business can stand still. Men and institutions either grow Better, Bigger, and More Useful, or step aside for those who are imbued with that progressive spirit that overcomes all obstacles that stand in the way of the accomplishment of their appointed tasks and purpose for the benefit of those they serve.

Latch—"Was that the time of Adam and Eve?"

Prof. Jones—"No, what makes you think so?"

Latch—"Well, I thought that was about the time the serpent was running things."

Business and Science Combine

The Huntington Laboratories a Very Successful and Interesting Plant

WHEN you spent hours in the physics or chemistry laboratory during the school days just past, did you ever stop to think how important science and laboratory work are in modern business? I know such work seemed like play to me when I was in school and it was only years afterward that I began to realize the tremendous uses which business men make of all those simple rules and formulas which we played at in the class room.

Right here in Huntington is a great big laboratory where science controls the manufacture of all sorts of interesting and useful chemical products.

Liquasan, the nationally known liquid soap, advertised in big magazines throughout the country, is made right here. It is the only liquid soap the manufacture of which is controlled by laboratory methods, and for that reason it has established a reputation of being the mildest and most uniform liquid soap obtainable anywhere.

Other products of this big, successful company are well and favorably known too. Careful experimentation has resulted in the best solidified perfume bloc, known as "Zef-ir." Its outstanding superiorities are recognized and they are all due to science applied to business.

In the same way, Nip-an-Tuck Roach Powder, "clogged pipe cleaner," Auto-San Auto Soap, Rex Crystals, Rex Fireless Formaldehyde Fumigator, Silk Floss Shampoo and many other high grade products have been developed. It is interesting to think that all these products are manufactured successfully and merchandised nationally from a plant here in Huntington, Indiana.

To awaken each morning with a smile brightening my face, to greet the day with reverence for the opportunities it contains; to approach my work with a clean mind; to hold ever before me, even in the doing of little things, the Ultimate Purpose toward which I am working; to meet men and women with laughter on my lips and love in my heart; to be gentle, kind and courteous through all the hours; to approach the night with weariness that ever woos sleep and the joy that comes from work well done — this is how I desire to waste wisely my days.—Thomas Dreier.
